21ST CENTURY SKILLS DEVELOPMENT

The way we learn and teach is quickly changing. Communication, collaboration, creativity, and critical thinking combined with digital literacy are the foundation of the 21C approach. Practices and principles of learning approaches need to continuously adapt to the reality of current situations by developing competencies that are used in the real world. We examine how learners develop 21C competencies in addition to typical language-focused competencies. While there are slightly different versions of 21C skills, Compass examines the four critical areas of the framework.

COMMUNICATION WITH A CULTURAL MINDSET

Learning to speak English means learning to speak with people in other cultures. Language is more than just a code: it involves social practices and making and understanding meaning. Languages are a reflection of our own understandings and beliefs. Language and culture are closely bound, so we must consider how languages as a communication code and as a cultural practice are balanced in our teaching approaches.

COLLABORATION IN THE REAL WORLD

Focusing beyond just language teaching is essential to developing a life and career in a world filled with the realities of globalization. Learners need to develop the language competency to collaborate while also considering the ethical and cultural dynamics between language and culture. Preparing learners to operate in the real world through a combination of language with critical thinking about global perspectives ensures they will be ready to succeed through collaboration with and in a global context.

CREATIVE THINKING

Developing higher-order thinking skills and creative thinking is essential. To improve this, learners study language in context. This allows for meaningful acquisition and usage of authentic information. Meaningful learning builds emotional commitment to the content and ensures a deep learning experience, where learners can use creativity to expand and explore on the content. It allows learners to relate to what they're learning and therefore think creatively.

CRITICAL THINKING

The 21C world combines ubiquitous, unabated access to information with ever-blurring lines of accuracy of the same information. As such, educators and publishers need to prepare learners for this world. Gone are the days of learners working from a rote memorization of vocabulary and language points which focus on one-way narrative of knowledge acquisition. Learners need more than ever to discern between alternative facts, fake news, real news, and everything in between. Meanwhile, exposure to authentic real-time content from multiple sources has never been higher. Therein, learners' opportunity has both never been more attractive and never been more daunting when it comes to distinguishing fact from fiction. Thus, it is essential for students today to truly master a wide range of subjects, such as English, world languages, arts, mathematics, science, economics, geography, history, and politics. In addition, these subjects should be taught in a way that enables understanding on global issues, world finance, health, and environment.

SUCCESSFUL TEACHING APPROACHES & METHODOLOGIES FOR ELT IN 2027

TOTAL PHYSICAL RESPONSE (TPR)

"The instructor is the director of a stage play in which the students are the actors."

-James J. Ashe-

Total Physical Response (TPR) is a language teaching approach built around the coordination of speech and action; it attempts to teach language through physical (motor) activity. This approach is particularly suitable for low level learners or children, who are in the stage of learning basic words or phrases.

READER'S THEATER

"Reader's Theater motivates reluctant readers and provides fluent readers with the opportunity to explore genre and characterization."

-Susan Finney-

Reader's Theater is a fun and creative approach for learners to integrate reading, writing, listening, and speaking all in one activity. It turns literature into scripts to act out. Reading aloud, writing additional lines of dialog, and expressing the content as a play is the focus of this approach. Reader's Theater improves confidence and self-image by applying all communicative skills while working collaboratively.

EXTENSIVE READING

"Extensive Reading is not the best way. It's the ONLY way."

-Stephen Krashen-

Extensive Reading involves reading a large quantity of enjoyable books which are at the right level. The benefits of extensive reading come when the learner reads regularly. There are two kinds of extensive reading; reading for language development and reading for fluency. When the reading materials are carefully chosen to suit the learners' level, the reading practice allows the learners the continuous exposure to the target language they need in order to solidify and strengthen their language competence.

INTENSIVE READING

"It is predicted that with its comprehensive training and rich exercises, [Intensive Reading] will continue to be an indispensable ELT course."

-Weidong Yang-

Intensive Reading involves learners reading in detail with specific academic aims and tasks. Intensive Reading serves to deepen cognitive processing through learning and practicing specific vocabulary and reading comprehension skills. The goal is to push oneself to build skills and strategies by taking on more difficult material in a clear, focused, and intentional manner.

HIGHER ORDER THINKING SKILLS

"To be truly effective, teachers… you must also prepare students for the learning they will have to do after they leave your classroom. Students who develop Higher Order Thinking Skills become life-long learners."

-John Grischow-

Higher Order Thinking Skills (HOTS) is an educational concept based on the idea that learning requires different levels of cognitive processing. HOTS provides learners the capability of analyzing and processing new situations with existing information. By evaluating such experiences, students are developing problem solving skills, initiating different cognitive methods, and learn analysis skills such as critical thinking. In turn, these learners are then able to understand more of the world around them.

PROJECT BASED LEARNING (PBL)

Project-based learning (PBL) is a student-centered pedagogy that involves a dynamic classroom approach in which it is believed that students acquire a deeper knowledge through active exploration of real-world challenges and problems. (Copied from Internet, We should ask the Developers department to write the definition in an original way.

READING 18

The End of Aging

Can science help us to live much longer lives? Track 19

In recent times, discoveries in medicine and technology have meant that humans now live longer than before. For example, in 1960, the average person in developed countries lived to be about 70 years old. By 2010, the average had gone up to over 80 years. Today, it is not unusual for many people to reach their 90th birthday and beyond.

It isn't just that we are living longer. We are living better, too. New technologies, better healthcare, information about how to live, and better eating not only make our life longer, but also make it better as well. A healthy 60-year-old today is often happier and does more than a 60-year-old who lived in the early 1900s.

In fact, our life is getting better so quickly that a group of scientists now say that the next step is to end aging completely. This group, called the anti-aging movement, believes that we can use drugs and technology to make our lives far longer than most people today can even imagine. One of its leaders, Ray Kurzweil, has said that soon humans will be able to live forever.

Another leader of the anti-aging movement, Aubrey de Grey, believes that most of the technology needed to slow down aging is already here. He says that the human body is like a machine; we can continue to change parts and keep it working. But first, we must stop thinking of aging as something that we can't stop. Instead, he says, we should fight aging in the same way that we fight cancer.

Many scientists agree with these ideas. In fact, most scientists today think it is possible to make the average human life last around 90 years. What they don't agree on yet is how long it will take to reach this goal.
